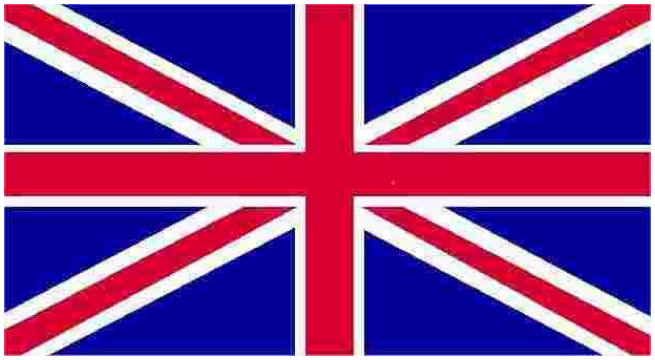
Tuesday

Thank you for effort you made to help your children become a British Icon. They looked amazing and were able to tell us about their chosen Icon. Their photos have been taken and displayed along with their explanation of who they were and why they were great.
They learnt about the British Value of Democracy and then discussed and drew what democracy meant to them.
As our Author study, we looked at books written by Julia Donaldson. They chose their favourite story and drew and wrote about it. The children also created a new front cover for one of Julia Donaldson's stories.



Turtles Learning Log

WB 22nd February 2016

Thursday

Today the children learnt about and discussed the British Value of Individual Liberty. They thought the things they are able to freely do that demonstrate it. We spent the rest of the morning looking at two British artists and then creating our own pieces in their style. They worked with a partner to create pieces from nature as Andy Goldsworthy does and worked individually using clay to create their own representations of Antony Gormley's 'The Angel of the North'.

PE

Y1 children were following instructions to play games.

Wednesday

On Wednesday the children learnt about the British Value of The Rule of Law. They talked about the laws they know about and who creates and enforces the law. We talked about why laws are important and the rules we have in school.
The children learnt about British transport and how it has changed and developed. Y1 created a timeline of Steam locomotion. They worked really well with a partner (YR & Y1) to design and then make a car.

Friday

Today's British Value was Mutual Respect. They discussed the importance of this and why it helps make Britain the country that many people want to live in.
They finished off other pieces of work whilst listening to music by British artists and enjoyed making scones with Mrs Platt.
The children finished off Best of British Week by taking part in a dance workshop before setting up for their Great Exhibition.

A reminder that next week is Parents' Evening on Thursday March 3rd.
