As parents and teachers we share concerns over the effects that the modern world of always on, electronic entertainment is having on children.

Here we offer a few ideas and tips that may be useful.

YouTube

- Use the YouTube kids app - it's not perfect, but allows some filtering of inappropriate content.
- Watch YouTube with your children. Learn about who they are watching and discuss whether they are suitable.

Gaming

- make good use of the age ratings and content labels
- activate the parental controls on your gaming device to control access and spending for your child's account.
- play games with your children, it's fun!

Online Behaviour

- Discuss with your child what is acceptable behaviour when interacting with people on line.
- Discuss what is, and is not, ok to share.
- Think about what you put online, it's there forever.
- AGREE a set of guidelines that you follow as a family.

Be Supportive

- if there is a problem, listen be supportive and take appropriate action.
- Save any evidence of cyberbullying
- Report it to the site administrators, and if necessary, the police.
